

Literature Review Outline

Introduction

- a. Jung and Freud's different psychologists' approaches to interpreting dreams. It is important to the field because dreams assist us in storing significant recollections and lessons learnt as we navigate challenging mental and emotional states. Our ideas as well as everyday interactions
- b. difference in their methodologies.
- c. Jung and Freud each used distinct perspectives symbolic interpretations of dreams

Themes:

- a. comprehension of dreams
 1. In Freud's concept of dreams, they "are always disguised attempts at wish fulfillment. The wishes are unconscious motives that are unacceptable to the individual and are nearly always erotic in nature" (Ryckman, 2012, p. 42).
 2. Jung's concept of dreams is that they "are involuntary and spontaneous eruptions of repressed materials rooted in both the personal and collective unconscious (Ryckman, 2012, p.68)."
- b. The conscious mind
- c. The unconscious mind
- d. Dream analysis
- e. Transference
- f. Manifestations
- g. Interpreting practice