

Free write week #9

End: 2:30 pm

Delmonte Dillard

March 25, 2023

Start 2:15 pm

“Which aspect of this Course has been most helpful to me” It has been using the reading writer on how to write a thesis to process analysis and develop paragraphs to think critically organize my ideas and how to know the difference of argumentative and persuasion and setting a tone most importantly the writing format of MLA style and cited work and how to draft review and revise, edit and proof read before it is read the task of it all has been very informative in using the correct grammar and punctuation and the exercises that follow behind it laving all the variations of writing has helped me to understand how to present using correct word choices in order for the reader to understand the point I’m presenting given all the information of English writing I hope to be able to write with certainty that I have comprehend the lessons given and be able to convince the reader to understand any topic I write about can follow along with ease the message and without second guessing the nature of what is being written I hope by the very end of term that I can submit s paper with confidence I have done well and earned a handsome grade I can be very proud of I look forward to this achievement moving forward this semester