This video was mainly about The Gupta Empire's amazing view through an explorer's eyes. I enjoyed the film as it spoke on traditions, gave years for certain history outbreaks & things we still use today. It was heard that the Gupta Empire was discovered in the Fifth century AD and that year is when the Gupta Kings created the empire. The Gupta Empire was very high quality, they were people of class as far as it went in those days & wanted things perfect. They did not believe in killing creatures & they were known for the gold and fancy sculptures. They also had great technological achievements meaning their work with metal & iron. They were known for how amazing they were. They followed the Hindu religion along with Buddhism in a calm place of India. They even helped to create math by finding the use for zero.
