

5-3-1 Assignment- Gonzalez CH. 6

Edward Brereton

QUESTIONS

1. What two important events took place in this period?
2. What was the date that is usually given for the beginning of the Reformation?
3. What was Luther's conviction that he finally came to about salvation?
4. What language did Luther translate the New Testament into?
5. The Council of Trent was the first council to do what?

ANSWERS

1. Two important events that took place in this period were the discovery and conquest of the Americas and the Protestant Reformation.
2. The date that is usually given for the Reformation is 1517.
3. The conviction that Luther finally came to about salvation was that salvation is by grace, through faith.
4. Luther translated the New Testament into German.
5. The Council of Trent was the first council to tackle practically every subject in Christian theology.

TERMS

Requerimiento- A document inviting the native lords to accept the Christian faith and the authority of king and pope

Anabaptists- (rebaptizers) A group that took a more radical position and came to the conclusion that the principle of the church must adjust to the practices of the New Testament

Episcopacy- Government of a church by bishops

SUMMARY

This chapter focuses on the conquest and the reformation from the fall of Constantinople to the end of the sixteenth century. The main thrust of this chapter is the church's role throughout both events. Many controversies arose between the Roman Catholic Church and the rise of Protestantism with many people playing substantive roles. This is an overview of what happened in this time with important details leading us to the outline of the events that took place.

