The topic for my paper I am focusing on is the different viewpoints of both articles that I have chosen. Both Authors have different takes on the reading “A Good Man is Hard To Find”. One Author pays closer attention to the humor side of the reading. The other Author pays more attention to the spiritual side of the reading. Both Authors pay attention to words that Flannery O’Connor uses to help the reader understand why they focus on the tone that is used and why they view the article in that way. My viewpoint would be to focus more into the Author’s viewpoint and compare the differences on how they view the articles.
