The Holocaust was a very horrific event in time. It was an attack on groups of individuals that was not necessary. The leaders in power at the time of the Holocaust believed that these people needed to die and suffer so they could create their "perfect" world. I am familiar with most of what occurred during the Holocaust. The main people who project these ideas and genocides are the people who aren't being killed. The people in power at that time believed in the idea of their perfect world. It included only a certain type of person and it had to be that way. They believed that the easiest way to get rid of that would be by murdering them. It shows that some people really do want to create a good peaceful world, but then cloud their judgment by their sinister ways. The people that were in charge of the Holocaust are truly evil. Keeping images and films and education of the Holocaust in today's world is so important. Educating people about these events stops them from happening in the future, and it spreads awareness. So that if someone in power has these ideas we the people can use our voice and shut them down.
