

Unit 10

Ethics in Psychology provides a set of standards that we can build a profession around. It protects the welfare, info of each the staff, and individuals or group that is seeking help within a professional setting.

Today's society it is full of crime, no responsibility, dishonesty. There no means of ethic in today society. Therefore, I say this is look around us all we see is what. Ethics is what keeps everything running Smoothly from ever one's jobs to every one's beliefs.

Has a future FNP and counselor Ethics will pay a big part of my job I will see the medical history to there they are today I can't go out and say hey did u know or did u here that joke doo has HIV that to me is just a little piece of the ethic code