Research & Writing

We read about the three different networks involved in the Cuban Missile Crisis. We had the Cubans (Fidel Castro), the U.S. (President Kennedy), and Khrushchev (Soviet Union). Each had an agenda for why they wanted the nuclear site on their property. Power and overturning the government were vital here. Regarding hierarchies, Cuba, at this point, started to become a communist country. Fidel Castro came to overtake the people of Cuba and made sure he made a statement that he was in charge. He was open to doing everything and anything to start a nuclear war against the U.S. During the Cuban Missile Crisis; the culture was "gain of power." It reminds me of the political crisis we're enduring as a country right now.
