1). Where did this book “take you apart?” How did God use it in “spiritual surgery?” (please use quotes & page numbers)?

I enjoyed reading chapter 8 because the character spoke about being the person you want to be proud of even when you're by yourself. This stood out to me because right now in life I am constantly trying to protect and better my self care with God being by my side. “ The cry for love and significance has become almost deafening, as men and women turn to performance, people pleasing, privilege, possessions, and power, exhausting themselves in fruitless efforts to find meaning that ultimately leave them broken and empty” is something I hope I never look for because I will be so invested in myself and God.

2). Where did you agree most with the author? Disagree most?

I agree a lot with the author. After analyzing this book you can figure that Ms. Walborn has spent many years focused on her journey with God. Reading this allowed me to agree with where she was coming from.

3). What was the key spiritual truth you gleaned from this book? How are you integrating it into your personal spiritual formation process?

The key spiritual truth I gleaned from this book was that God is always by our side even when we think He is no where He is always there and He's doing everything for a reason. I will integrate this into my everyday life, when I feel I am struggling, knowing He is there will give me peace.
