

Discuss the three primary reasons why AA may work for some people.

Three primary reasons why AA may work for some people is first having a social context to address the concerns these individuals may be facing in a safe environment. Second is having social support in a group setting. These individuals will be able to feel not alone in their process. Lastly, it provides a structure for these individuals to follow to help get their life on track.

Discuss several problems related to the deinstitutionalization of the mentally ill.

Deinstitutionalization of the mentally ill has many problems which include: displacement of these individuals, leading to more homelessness and lack of treatment for them. No aftercare for these individuals who are discharged. Lack of housing resources for these individuals.

Identify several strengths and landmarks of development that present in middle adulthood.

Several strengths found in middle adulthood include an increase in self-awareness middle-aged adults have a better understanding of their own strengths and weaknesses and are able to have a better self-reflection on their past experiences and make better divisions for their future. There is also an increase in emotional stability, resulting in better regulation of emotions and coping with stress.