

5-3-1 Assignment- Gonzalez CH. 8

Edward Brereton

QUESTIONS

1. The greatest challenge facing the churches in the nineteenth century was probably what?
2. What two things appeared in this time?
3. Who was the first important Protestant theologian to respond to the challenges of modernity by reinterpreting the faith?
4. What happened to the theologians who sought to interpret the Catholic faith in terms of modernity?
5. Who drew the interest of the first missionaries in Asia?

ANSWERS

1. The greatest challenge that the church was facing in the nineteenth century was probably the matter of slavery.
2. Two things that appeared in this time were new theological movements and biblical interpretations.
3. The first important Protestant theologian to respond to the challenges of modernity by reinterpreting the faith was Friedrich Schleiermacher.
4. The theologians who sought to interpret the catholic faith in terms of modernity were condemned and excommunicated.
5. India drew the interest of the first missionaries in Asia.

TERMS

Patronato Real- Royal Patronage

Liberals- Mostly merchants, industrialists, and other members of the new bourgeoisie

Conservatives- Representing the interests of the old landed aristocracy

SUMMARY

Chapter eight discusses the nineteenth century. Modernity was a big aspect in this century and a series of political upheavals brought forth the ideals of democracy and free enterprise. We see the churches showing traits of denominationalism and we also see theological movements and biblical interpretation appearing. Protestantism grew in many areas of the world and most of the nations in Latin America had Protestant churches built on solid foundations.

