

Orlando Martinez

Professor OHara

World Cic

11 April 2023

My first thoughts about the crusades is that it is not good in fact it is evil. The only successful crusade was the very first crusade other than that all other crusades were not good at all. They were all very unsuccessful, they were mainly fighting to save their religion and for political advantage, but just killing people because they are not christians and the opposite of you should not mean you should just go to war with them. The crusades were basically just killing off other religions and just doing really bad things to other religions.