A few specific sources of mediated information that I am unlikely to consume is letters. I haven't written a letter to someone in many years.

Something I depend on the media for is the truth. I expect the media to produce the truth at all times. I also expect the media to respect human beings' privacy but I don't always get what I expect. If you depend on the media for your behavior, attitudes and so on you will be living a chaotic life. The media is chaos. The media lacks boundary.

There are some very mean and unjust people in this world that make themselves feel better by making others feel worse so if your attitude and behavior depends on the media you will not be a happy person because the media enjoys negative stories more than positive stories.

My opinion leaders are usually people that I have not met. There is one opinion leader that I have met and still am in contact with. She went to my church she is in to hair and make up and she's very good at it. She did my hair and make up for my Sweet 16 and I looked beautiful that night. I always trust her in terms of brands and products that she uses on her face. Her skin is nice and similar to the color of mine which is why I trust her color shades she chooses for her skin. She is my sister's best friend and she has over 500,000 followers on Instagram. I guess people trust her judgment just as much as I do Jackie Aina is also another makeup guru that I trust wholeheartedly and it's a great opinion leader. I trust her regarding all makeup products and skin care products that she lets the rest of the world know. I am the opinion leader for a couple of my friends. At one point in time I used to dress my friends. Before we used to go out to parties they used to invite me over so I could pick their outfit for them. I've always been fashion inclined. I honestly didn't know that until my old principal commented on my photo that I've always been fashion forward. I found it interesting because the school I went to wore a uniform but I was always incorporating trendy items even if it would get me in trouble. One of my friends, Kaile, values my opinion tremendously and looks to me for advice on how to deal with men.

You can use the media to change your feeling of depression by listening to a happy song or playing a funny movie. Just something to distract you from the feelings you're feeling at the moment

The last time I spent several hours at one sitting with the TV is almost every night. My sleeping schedule is extremely off and I wake up every day at 3:00 PM. I think two days ago I've binged watched Power book 2: ghost. While watching the show I was fulfilling the need for relaxation, I had a long hard week of homework, work, taking care of my dad, and keeping up with housework.

The fraction of selection describes how we balanced the effort required with the reward we expect from our specific media users. Set up like a math equation, we divide the effort required in the amount of a warranty expect in order to determine which media we will consume. Expected reward over effort required.

The reporter writing "the president looked away from reporters as he said, I knew nothing of the issue." Is a nice way of the reporter implying that the president was lying. An oppositional reading to the statement could've been he was so appalled by the question he didn't even want to look at the reporter.
