Pediatric Blythedale Clinical

This clinical we had Vsim, since our professor had to go to a conference in florida. I was looking forward to going into clinical practice this week because I like playing with the kids and making them smile. I also like the Vsim because it challenges us to be better and prepare us for real life scenarios. This week we had to complete the Eva Madison Vsim. This scenario was interesting because of the different variations this pediatric patient had. It was much different than an adult patient. I felt pretty comfortable with this scenario due to the fact that it was a pediatric patient, I felt comfortable administering IV fluids and handling different medications. One of the accomplishments I had with this Vsim is that I was able to control her symptoms pretty well on my first try of the Vsim. When she was undergoing the hypovolemic shock I started getting nervous, so that I don't make a mistake and will make the patient worse. One of my challenges was that I forgot to educate the parent and the patient on her symptoms. As a nurse we will always have to educate our patients so that we can help promote patient centered care. Overall I really enjoyed this vsim I learned a lot and made me comfortable with my patients I see at Blythedale clinical. One bible verse that helped me get through this week was "Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for you are with me; your rod and your staff, they comfort me." Psalm 23:4. This bible verse speaks to me because even if we are going through a lot of stress and doubts. God will always be there for us and comfort us in times of need and desperation.
