

Blandine Pierre

Beverly Locke

English 101 Rough Draft#4

20 April 2023

The danger of legalizing marijuana

- Currently marijuana is legalized for pain, anxiety, migraines and medicinal purposes
- Some people commit crimes whilst using marijuana.
- Some are addicted to marijuana
- Research shows that marijuana can cause hallucination
- CBD and THC are both in marijuana, but the former CBD is only found in trace amount of marijuana
- The active ingredients are CBD and THC. THC, also a compound found in a related plant called hemp.

It has been demonstrated that using marijuana changes a persons' personality. It may reduce pain, but it cannot cure any disease. The government is trying to legalize it because as a banned substance, people who buy illegal marijuana are ingesting all different kinds of impurities. While it may make the government have a new revenue, it will save more long-term effects of ingesting things like roach spray to make the dose look like more than it is at sale. People from the government said that by legalizing marijuana they are going to make money from dope users, and that is a shame. OK. let say for instance the government says that by legalizing it they are going to make may be 55 millions dollars of profits, but some thing they forget about is that; they are going to make 55 millions dollars of profits, but they are going to spend at least 33 trillion dollars on them, it is not a joke. Look around, and see what marijuana is doing to people who are addicted to it. There are people they will do any thing to buy marijuana. Most users are not medically in need of marijuana, instead, they just like its effects. the term “burnt?” The long term effects of marijuana use is a delayed mental status. This is a fact. The marijuana sits at the chasm between one cell and another and it slows the thought process. THE DENDRITES, OR BRAIN RECEPTORS FOR TRANSMISSION OF STIMULAE BETWEEN BRAIN CELLS ACTUALLY ARE DELAYED WHEN MARIJUANA SITS ON THE DENDRITES OF BRAIN CELLS.

Overall Marijuana has little positive results, and can be abused by addicts and recreational users. It is easier for a crack cocaine smoker to quit smoking crack cocaine than a marijuana smoker to quit smoking marijuana. This is how powerful that little plant is. In my opinion 95 percent of related crime marijuana has something to do with, and the government has the nerve to legalize it. Somebody has to say something. What that little plant do to this country; the crime rate goes higher, no authority seems to be concerned, and that leaves concerning parents with a question what is that America has to offer innocent kids, In whom they can rely on, most of them who are addicted to marijuana they do not copy from parents but friends; so by legalizing marijuana is like giving kids in America license to hell.

Once again many of marijuana smokers are very talented, but the problem is that, they let that little plant be their bosses it is sad, but it is true. Think about it many homeless people on the streets are marijuana users. Marijuana users refuse to admit, and accept that marijuana is harmful because it is only herb GOD MAKES IT THEY SMOKE IT, this is what marijuana users say, but one thing they have to know is that; many people who are addicted to other illegal drugs; they go from smoking marijuana to other illegal drugs this is how it started one thing leads to another news flash what marijuana does to people it cook your brain, and this is the reason why they call it pot, people use pot to cook simple is that.