Week 14 - 10 Point Assignment

This week was a very successful week with a ton of different new things taught to each and every single one of us. The goal of the videos was to help beginners in the music industry plan their careers off in the year of 2020 but can also be used in any year. Preparation is very important as well as setting goals for the year and breaking them down into steps to accomplish them as you go on. Setting two goals such as your music business goal will differ from everyone else's because everyone has a different mindset and view of their own career. A second goal that should be set for the year is having a career goal. It can be different things such as wanting to learn how to play a new instrument or drawing up your own cover art. This is a new skill that can be learned and practiced every single day. Great video that can definitely steer someone towards the right career path and direction if they were lost.
