Discussion Questions:

1. I feel that becoming a data analyst would be a promising career because they do the detailed work behind closed doors, not only are music businesses reliant on a data entry person but so are other jobs that rely on data to figure out how well they are doing. Most places also have this job type because not everyone understands what is being worked on or they may not have the education to be informed.

2. 5. A musician I admire is Chris Brown because, from the time he was sixteen years old, he was widely known for his creative ways of expressing his music. Not only can he dance but he can sing wrap and make everyone around him feel comfortable and relaxed. I feel that he succeeded in life because of his support groups and having friends to encourage him every step of the way. Most of all his passion for creating good music it what gives him the drive to keep creating new music.
