

Reading questions 13

1 Beowulf ends his life avenging himself. none of his people have to die to pay for his death. Beowulf Spends His Life keeping peace, and even in death he's secured peace for his people, as far as the dragon was concerned.

2 in this last section there are a few similarities between Beowulf and the hobbit. in both, there was the burial of a king. Beowulf was heaped and treasure, Thorin had the Arkenstone laid on his breast and the Elven sword placed on his tomb.