

Reading 19 questions

1. King Hamlet was poisoned in his ear killing him

Claudius poisoned the whole kingdom of Denmark by killing him and his lies.

2. Hamlet could be becoming mad for the death of his father.

We know that Horatio was concerned that if Hamlet followed the ghost, then he could possibly be turned into madness.

3. Hamlet must revenge his father/ghost. Claudius killed Hamlet the king and now Hamlet has met this ghost turning out to be his father telling him all the lies of Claudius.

4. I truthfully did not notice any.

For one, we found that Claudius is a Kin-killer, and Hamlet intends to be the blood avenger.

Reading 20 questions

1. Everyone is trying to figure out why Hamlet is mad. I think hamlet is very mad, but he's showing it weirdly. When Lord Polonious would walk in the room his attitude would change. So maybe there is a connection there. I think he's just trying to confuse everyone so he can ultimately get to Claudius.

2. Polonius has been spying throughout this whole reading. Spying on his own son Laertes to now spying on Hamlet.

Hamlet will now also be spying on Claudius during the play.

Reading 21 questions

1. In this reading everyone in one way or another seems mad. Everyone is still trying to find out the cause for Hamlet's madness. Hamlet even sounds mad and is disrespectful to his own mother. Hamlet's actions are all over the place it's hard to tell his true feelings.

In this act we see Hamlet showing different levels of madness to different people. He seems almost completely sane while talking to his mother, Horatio, and the actors. To anyone else he seems very angry and not sane.

2. The theme of spying has extended even further by Polonius going into the queen's room to find out secrets. This only ends up getting him killed as Hamlet stabs him thinking he is Claudius. Everyone is spying on each other through this reading trying to figure out each other's minds.
3. Hamlet could be deceiving with his actions in a sense that he's trying to trick everyone of why he's truly mad.

Ophelia was supposed to deceive Hamlet while talking with him. Hamlet is trying to deceive his uncle into confession. His uncle is deceiving him about his trip to England. It's all deception and trickery it seems like in this messed up family.

4. Hamlet is still trying to avenge the ghost. While Hamlet is in the middle of his conversation with his mother the ghost returns, randomly reminding Hamlet that he needs kill Claudius. Its like the ghost is anxious.

5. Its all about either dying or staying live.

It's about suicide. That's the problem Hamlet is working through. Should I stay alive?