

Write a post appropriate for Facebook, Twitter, Instagram or other favorite social media tool. The post should include a succinct e description of your leadership work and a link to the shared resource. The resource can be the NASA asset that you used, a google doc with a lesson that you developed or a resource that you used.

Please see below for my social media share-a-thon:

Wondering how to create interdisciplinary connections in your math class? Check out these awesome NASA resources that I've used in my class: spacemath.gsfc.nasa.gov, nasaclips.arc.nasa.gov/video/realworld. Who doesn't like to see beautiful snowflakes? svs.gsfc.nasa.gov/12507 and real authentic data ozonewatch.gsfc.nasa.gov can get students more engaged.
